THE OPERATOR BLUEPRINT

PATH 16

Freelance, then productize

Charge the rate now. Build the product from the notes. Stop reinventing the job.

Who this is for

You already do AI work for money and you are tired of quoting from scratch.

First sale

A second similar job at a cleaner scope.

Time to first

You may already be here

Cash window

Your current rate, then a package

Tools

Whatever you already invoice with, plus a growing checklist.

Leave this alone

Random gigs forever. No notes.

The conversion

Take the last job you did well. Write the steps as a checklist the night you deliver. After three similar jobs, the package writes itself. That package is path 7. The checklist is path 1.

Stop saying yes to work that does not teach the product. Variety feels like growth. It is usually stalling.

The first 72 hours

Open the last three invoices. Circle the similar ones. Write the shared steps. Name the package. Send that name the next time someone asks 'what do you charge?'

The path, step by step

Step 1. Notes in the same doc after every job.

Step 2. Prompts you reused go in a stack.

Step 3. Raise the package price when the waitlist appears.

Step 4. The product version is the job without you in the middle. Price it lower. Let it sell while you sleep.

Mistakes

Custom work that never repeats. Undercharging because AI 'made it fast.' Forgetting that speed is what they are buying.

Copy and week-by-week

When they ask your rate, name the package, not an hourly shrug.

This week: circle similar invoices. Next job: send the package name. After three similar jobs: productize.

Close the book. Do the first 72 hours. Do not tour the rest tonight.
